

This powerful, anointed, angel of the Lord is an awesome praise and worship leader, talk show host, mentor and mother who continues to empower, instruct, and help lead a generation of believers in this millennium.

Tracey D. Williams is the daughter of Mr. & Mrs. Johnny Dockery. She was born and raised in Laurinburg, and graduated from Scotland High School. Tracey went on to pursue her dream of becoming a hairstylist and received her Cosmetology Degree from Chris Logan's Beauty School in South Carolina.

At an early age Tracey realized her God given ability to sing His praises with power and anointing. While a member of Freedom Temple Full Gospel Church under the leadership of Rev. Albert S. Davis, she began to operate as a psalmist, it was also at this time that Tracey received her calling to preach the gospel. She credits her exposure to ministry during this time as a key part of developing who she is today in the Body of Christ.

The other part of her becoming the awesome Woman of God she is comes from her obedience and continued faithfulness to the vision given to her husband, Bishop Terence D. Williams. Tracey, "Lady Williams" as she is referred to at From The Word, says she has learned from the "Preacha" what full time ministry really means. It is under the tutelage of "The Best Pastor on this side of Heaven", that she has developed a deeper relationship with God and a greater love for the word of God.

Tracey has also learned that only after you completely devote your life to God and to the things of God will you be able to experience the power of prayer and true praise.

Lady Williams and Bishop T. D. have been married for 11 years and are the proud parents of three beautiful daughters: Kinesia (15); Jatoya (9); and Takiya (5).
